

AUSTIN CHAMBER MUSIC CENTER

Tuesday, February 12, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

Adidam presented an incredible concert in honor of Black History Month for the Austin Chamber Music Center on Thursday, February 7, 2008. The performance took place at Austin's own Huston-Tillotson University in front of hundreds of eager audience members. John Littlejohn, violin and SaulPaul, dj/emcee were electric in their performance and interaction with the audience. The audience was totally engaged and gave a thunderous standing ovation at the close of the performance. I, for one, was thrilled to have been witness to this concert and would recommend this group to everyone that has the opportunity to hear and see them.

Joel D. Bright

Assistant Director for Education
Austin Chamber Music Center